1969 CIARLA

Muhlenberg College
Allentown, Pa.

Each year Muhlenberg's annual, the Ciarla, now firmly established as that fall publication with the inarticulate title, is delivered to the student body amidst moans, groans, and sighs. The Ciarla staff is verbally cauterized for errors of spelling, negligence of captions, and lack of color. After the commotion and criticism abates, the Ciarlas are shelved — only to be re-opened for a quick reference in the “I know that name but not the face” game. Similarly, each year the staff emits cries that yearbooks are not reference books nor ego boosters. Supposedly, yearbooks capture the spirit of the college community and relate this to the individual reader in terms of personal expression and experience.

Perhaps this is why the candid or opening section receives more reader attention than the activity or organization section. In an effort to increase the reader's interest candid pictures have been used wherever possible. Faculty, administration, sports, special events, and fraternities proved to be more adaptable to a candid approach than the activities and seniors. In order to maintain the overall tone of the book, the traditional senior section has been deleted, and the senior pictures are distributed throughout the book. The organizations thwarted all candid attempts and thus appear as posed informals with captions.

As you read through the Ciarla be an active participant. Help the pictures do their job of stimulating your memory through suggestion not recall.
